SHINAGAWA
SPECIALTY CERAMICS

Welcome to our new brands!

We are excited to share an important update regarding our product lines.

As part of our ongoing commitment to innovation and clarity in our product offerings, we are making the following rebranding changes.

Durafrax 2000 ceramic will now become SHINDURAWEAR™

Lithafrax powders will now become SHINDURATHERM™

Wearpak adhesives will now become SHINDURAPAK™

These changes reflect our focus on durability, performance, and long-term value - qualities that continue to define the product you know and trust.

Please note that while the names are changing, our products specifications, quality, and performance remain exactly the same. You can expect the same reliability and results, now under a new name that better represents its purpose and benefits.

Over the coming months, you will begin to see the updated names reflected across our literature, documentation, and communications. During this transition period, both names may appear interchangeably.
